LO: I am getting better at comparing the village of Slingsby to London.

Have a look at the photographs below, they are Slingsby village and central London. The photograph has been taken from above; this is called an aerial photograph.

Slingsby Village

City of London

The Pictures below show the main street in Slingsby and a street in London. What I would like you to do today is think about the similarities and differences between London and Slingsby.

Can you split your page into two and on one side write all the things that are similar about London and Slingsby and all the things that you notice that are different?

I would then like you to think about all the things you like about the area that you live or maybe you can draw a picture of your house in the village that you live.
