

Free writing challenge

If you have enough time this week, complete some free writing based on the image below. It could be that you write a story and your character visits or lives at the setting that the image shows. I know that some of you liked to write songs or poems when we completed free writing at school. You are welcome to do this during this free write time (which can be any length of time that you have available during the school week), but your challenge is to make whatever you write link to the image on the document. Have fun with it and get creative!

Some questions to prompt you alongside the image below:

- What is the person collecting?
- Why is the person collecting them? What might they be using them for?
- Where is the person sailing to?
- Is the person on their own? Are there more people sailing far behind or far in front of them?
- If there are more people, how do they know each other? Are they family or friends? Is there another link there instead?

You can use the questions above to support your writing alongside the image if you would like, but you are more than welcome to brainstorm as many ideas as you can think of. I can't wait to see what you come up with! Even if you feel that your draft is not fully finished or there are still edits you'd like to make, it would be great to see your writing on Dojo at any point! That way, if you are not sure how to move forward with it, we can discuss it together.
